History of JOHOR

Johor's modern history began when Datuk Temenggong Daing Ibrahim received control of the state through a treaty between the British in Singapore and Sultan Ali of Johor in 1855. Datuk Temenggong Daing Ibrahim started to develop the state and land was opened to the Chinese settlers from Singapore while cultivation of pepper was initiated.

The Temenggong was succeeded by his son, Datuk Temenggong Abu Bakar, who is known as the father of modern Johor for establishing the state's constitution and developing its modern administrative system. He also constructed the Istana Besar, the formal residence of the Sultan.

Today, Johor's economy continues to flourish and exhibits strong growth, with healthy industrial development and outstanding trade and business facilities.

Heritage and Culture

The museums and galleries of Johor provide a fascinating window on its colourful history and potpourri of cultures.

Royal Abu Bakar Museum

Royal Abu Bakar Museum

In 1866, Sultan Abu Bakar, the father of modern Johor built the magnificent Istana Besar or main palace as his official residence. It is a magnificent building surrounded by extensive gardens. Today, it houses the Royal Abu Bakar Museum, showcasing rare and beautiful treasures belonging to the royal family.

Endau-Rompin National Park

This national park covers an area of approximately 92,000ha of rich flora and fauna, encompassing the rivers of Endau and Rompin. It straddles across two states, on the south of Pahang and the north of Johor which takes up approximately 48,905ha. Visitors will be amazed at the sight of the rare fan-palm trees with leaves shaped like giant-spoked wheels. It is also the home to the largest surviving population of Sumatran Rhinoceros in Peninsular Malaysia.

There are some 26km of jungle trails within the park, the most well-trodden being the gruelling 16km trail from Kuala Jasin to Batu Hampar and Buaya Sangkut. Only a limited area is open to the public, and visitors are required to obtain special permits from the Johor National Park Corporation. Various tour operators offer guided tours to certain areas of the reserve and will arrange for the necessary permits, river and road transport as well as accommodation.

Pulau Aur

Pulau Pemanggil

The largest of the cluster of islands in Johor is Pemanggil. There are some 30 fishing spots here to the delight of avid anglers. Look out for fishing packages which include boat transfers and accommodation. Squid-fishing is another option available during certain times of the year. You can also go jungle trekking as well as snorkelling and diving around this island.

Pulau Aur

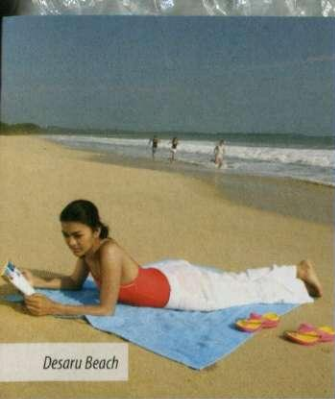

The unspoilt island of Aur is the perfect dive destination. The waters here offer divers an excellent opportunity to encounter pelagics including jacks, barracudas and black tip sharks. The best time to dive is between April and October when the sea is calmer and visibility is at its best.

Pulau Tinggi, Pulau Besar and Pulau Dayang

The islands of Tinggi, Besar and Dayang are idyllic secluded getaways. These islands boast beautiful beaches with shady cool trees and clear waters. Simple resorts are the order of the day. Perfect for simply working on nothing, but a tan!

Pulau Tinggi

Desaru Beach

Desaru

Desaru boasts 25km of inviting beaches fringed by palms and casuarinas. It lies in Kota Tinggi, the southeastern corner of Johor, approximately 98km from Johor Bahru. The waters here are perfect for a relaxing swim, water-skiing and catamaran sailing. Rent a canoe and set off to explore the beach surroundings or tee-off at the adjacent 18-hole international standard golf course and enjoy a magnificent view of the South China Sea; go wild outdoors and learn how to fly an ultra-light aircraft or take part in a go-cart race. Other recreational activities include jungle trekking, horseback riding, archery and 4x4 off-road adventures.

There are several premier resorts as well as reasonably priced chalet accommodation for budget travellers here. Facilities at the beach front include picnic grounds, restaurants, a food court and souvenir shops. Desaru is also the venue for international triathlons.

Tanjung Balau Beach

A stone's throw away from Desaru, the beach here in the Tanjung Balau Fishing Village has food stalls and souvenir shops. There are several chalets here for overnight accommodation and homestays. Within walking distance is the unique Tanjung Balau Fisherman Museum.

Nightlife in Johor Bahru

Entertainment

After the sun goes down, the city comes alive with a wide variety of exciting nightspots. Karaoke lounges, clubs with live bands and discotheques are among the happening places that make their mark on the city's vibrant night scene.

Unwind at the trendy sidewalk cafes and delicatessens until late night or sip your favourite drink while you listen to live bands at the clubs. The city's alfresco outlets are the places to be for a stunning view of JB by night.

Shopping

Johor is a delightful place to shop for local and imported goods. The state is noted for its immense variety of products, which include designer labels, fashion accessories, electrical appliances, ceramics and handicrafts.

Intricately designed handicrafts

Shopping at Danga Bay

The state capital ranks among the best for shopping. The Holiday Plaza in Johor Bahru has one of the longest shopping arcades in Asia with almost everything a shopper could want. Within the city centre are modern shopping complexes like The ZON Johor Bahru, Tun Abdul Razak Complex (KOMTAR), Plaza Kotaraya, Lien Hoe Complex, Pelangi Leisure Mall, AEON Tebrau City and Plaza Pelangi. Bazaars and open-air night markets are found throughout the city.

Dining

Visitors to Johor can expect to have their tastebuds tickled and palates tempted with a wide range of local and international cuisine.

Johor offers both local and international cuisine

The laksa Johor is a must for first-time visitors. It is a bowl of noodles with flavourful soup or gravy. A variety of herbs and spices are used to make the spicy-flavoured gravy which include coconut milk, fried coconut bits, onions, cucumber, chili and lime. Johor is also famous for its lontong which is glutinous rice made into compact cubes served with thick gravy. Other scrumptious dishes include satay, mee goreng, rojak, nasi tomato and mee bandung.

You can choose to dine at hawker centres where you can sample delicious local Malay, Chinese or Indian fare at very affordable prices. In Kukup, a fishing village about ten minutes' drive from Tanjung Piai, you can also enjoy delicious seafood while enjoying a view of the sea. Boats here will ferry visitors to the nearby Kukup Island and the surrounding farms. Kukup Island is the world's second largest mangrove island.

Restaurants, cafes and delicatessens can be found in major towns here where patrons can dine in the comfort of an air-conditioned surrounding or al-fresco at places such as Legaran Segget (07-228 2525), an open-air food court offering a wide array of local delicacies. Various restaurants serving international cuisine can be found in the city centre.

Traditional Dance and Music

Johor's traditional dance and song performances offer unique glimpses of its cultures and traditions.

Kuda Kepang

The kuda kepang and zapin represent the best of traditional Malay dances in Johor.

Kuda kepang is unique to the state of Johor. It is a dance performed using woven horses. In a kuda kepang performance, usually nine horses are used, accompanied by the musical harmony of the angklung (made of bamboo with varying size and pitch), gong (rebana) and drum (gendang). The dance denotes warriors on horseback in battle and slowly gaining momentum until it becomes more vigorous when victory is celebrated.

Ghazal and barongan are the backbone of traditional Malay music. Ghazal involves a small group of musicians playing both traditional and modern instruments and is usually performed at official functions.

Accommodation

Accommodation is widely available and comprise of star-rated hotels, comfortable inns, well-equipped apartments, charming chalets as well as quaint village homestays.

Comfortable lodging in exotic locations

Sebana Golf & Marina Resort

Johor has numerous hotels to suit a variety of tastes and budgets. Visitors will be pleasantly surprised to find top-class hotels in Johor Bahru, which are competitively priced. Other major towns in the north such as Batu Pahat, Kluang, Kota Tinggi, Segamat, Muar and Mersing, also have a good range of hotels.

The beach resort of Desaru offers visitors a choice between luxury hotels and more rustic chalets and camping facilities. There is also chalet accommodation on many islands off the east coast. Homestay, a programme where visitors have the chance to live with the locals and enjoy traditional village life is also available in certain areas in the state.

*T*ransportation

Travelling to and around Johor is convenient as it offers ease of accessibility and is connected by a comprehensive road, rail, sea as well as air transportation network.

Getting To Johor

Road

Johor Bahru is 368km or a four-hour drive from Kuala Lumpur via the North South Expressway. Bus services from major cities and towns in the peninsula run several times a day to Johor Bahru.

Rail

Keretapi Tanah Melayu Berhad (KTM) provides several train passages daily to Johor Bahru.

Air

It is also accessible from Kuala Lumpur and several other states such as Sabah and Sarawak by air. There are also flights available from Johor Bahru to several destinations in Sabah and Sarawak.

Sea

Ferry services are available from Changi Point in Singapore to Tanjung Belungkor near Desaru as well as Batam and Tanjung Pinang in Indonesia to the Johor Bahru International Terminal.

Getting Around Johor

Taxi

Taxis are available at bus stations, hotels and shopping complexes. Agree on the price for a round tour of the city before you get into the taxi.

Bus

The local bus service is an inexpensive alternative to get around the city.

Car

Cars can be rented for a drive around the city or to nearby towns.

Bicycle

Bicycles can be hired at some guesthouses and offer a cheap mode of seeing the city.
